Which is why it was surprising that when I saw "In the darkness, that's where I'll know you" I mentally took a step back, and really thought about the title. It's... kind of gorgeous, you know? Evocative, yearning, and somehow poetic. And really, it doesn't do justice to the absolute crazy-pants insanity of this book.

But somehow, Darkness didn't quite fully click with me. I've asked myself repeatedly why, if I loved pretty much everything about it, I can't just start throwing happy neurons at it like Mardi Gras beads. I think that the answer lies in the pacing. I feel like too many parts of this book got dragged down in speculation about what is ...
